FINANCE AND BUSINESS.

ASSESSED VALUE OF TAXABLES AND RATES. The Financial Chronicle gives the following table, in which Indiana appears to a pretty good advantage after all. Only one state is below her rate, Connecticut, and one other, Oregon, had the same rate in 1872. It looks pretty bilious for Louisiana, with an assessed value of only $228,666,653, and $2.15 tax on each hundred dollars. The Chronicle says: For the purpose of showing the taxable property of the several states, as given in their latest assessments, and the rates of taxation prevailing, we have compiled the following table:

REVIEW OF THE HOME MARKETS WEEKLY REVIEW OF THE INDIANAPOLIS WHOLESALE MARKETS.

MONDAY EVENING, November 30. There is a decided easing up of money strin- Colored gency among the merchants of the city, which | Coveriet warp. they cheerfully admit. The sale of grain and pork begins to produce its effect and to be felt Nashville. appreciably in all lines of business. In the channels of trade there is no doubt that money will, within the next three weeks, be as plenty and collections as easy as at any time since the days of war inflation. Prices of the leading staples remain unusually steady and firm. Corn and hogs show no indication of any decline for the season while wheat is improved to the season while wheat is improved to the season. the season, while wheat is improving and the feeling is good. The high prices of other articles enable farmers to keep their wheat on hand without inconvenience and consequently rewithout inconvenience and consequently receipts are very light. The dry goods trade is reported good enough. Business is lively and healthy. Prices are very low, so low that in all lines of cotton goods people are laying in supplies for the future.
The wholesale grocery trade is getting good humored again over the improved appearance of business; collections are less slow and trade assumes a more animated appearance; the volume of business is not yet large but good assumes a more animated appearance; the volume of business is not yet large but good as could be expected at the closing of a year which was not blessed with the brightest of results or expectances. The staples are much the same as when last noted. Sugars are strong but a few days of surplus yield bring refiners to the front with telegrams, asking for offers at a fraction off their basis which is 10%c for standard "A." Coffees are from 17 to 20%c gold east and firm at these prices; unchanged here, demand good. New crop molasses freely offered with improving trade at 50 % 5c as to grade.
